ROHAN'S CLASS CLIPPINGS - SAVED OCTOBER 2001

A day that changed the world

On 11 September 2001, terrorist attacks in the United States struck New York City and the Pentagon. The World Trade Center towers collapsed. This clipping preserves a historical photograph for a classroom archive.

Rohan's note: We watched the news together in the hostel common room. For once, nobody argued about which channel to put on.

Archive filename copied from the hackathon reference; contents are historical context and a fictional student note.
